No Assistant District Attorney to be Appointed r Atlanta-Randall's Influence Shown in th New Appointments-McClellan Seeking the French Ambassadorship-Etc.

WASHINGTON, March 18 .- [Special.] -The nemination of Ben Hill as district attorney was expected. Both senators finally agreed upon him. He has been congratulated by them and by many Georgians now in Washington, including several of his competitors for this position. The attorney-general told Mr. Hill to day that he would appoint no assistant district afterney at Atlanta or elsewhere, as he could find no law justifying such appointment. Under Brewster, almost every district had an assistant, and some had twoor three. Garland has adopted a new plan. The district attorneys must do the work themselves. RANDALL'S GROWING INFLUENCE.

To-day's nominations are taken as even more demonstrative of Randall's influence with the administration than his defeat of Phil Thompson for revenue commissioner. Malcolm Hay, whose nomination as first assistant postmaster general was quite a surprise, is one of Randall's warmest friends, and was chairman of the Pennsylvania delegation at Chicago Montgomery, of Michigan, the new commissiener of patents, voted for Randall at Chicago. Judge Durham, when in congress, was one of Randall's warm friends and earnest supporters. He was backed for comptroller of the tressury by several Kentucky congressmen, but Randall also supported him. Phil Thompson got into congress by defeating Durham, and as Thompson goes out Durham comes again into important position, and Randall, who kept Thompson out of an important office in the treasury, helped to pull Durham

THE DAY IN THE SENATE.

The President Sends in an Important Batch of Appointments.

WASHINGTON, March 18 .- The chair laid before the senate the resolution offered by Mr. Miller, of New York, authorizing the committee on agriculture and forestry to sit during the recess to consider the best means of preserving forests upon the public domain, and to employ a clerk. After some discussion the resolution was adopted, 27 to 25, and the senate went into executive session.

The president sent in the following nominaions to the senate to day:

Milton J. Durham, of Kentucky, to be first comptroller of the treasury.

W. M.Garrard, of Nevada, to be superintendent of the mint of the United States at Carson, Nevada.

Evans has written a letter to the secretary of the treasury in regard to the matter, of which the following is a copy:

Hon. Daniel Manning, secretary of the treasury:
Sir—I have received your letter of this date, in which you state that by by direction of the president I am informed that my "resignation" as commissioner of internal revenue "is accepted," to take effect upon the qualification of my successor. I was hardly prepared to receive such a letter today, in view of the fact that I had not resigned, and especially as my information that my successor was nominated to the senate yesterday. It may be proper that I should take this occasion to state that while I have never resigned nor ever had a proper opportunity to talk to you upon the subject, still it has been my fixed purpose to resign at an early day, in no event later than the close of the fiscal year, my second in office, and I thought I had probably a fair right to assume the existence of apparent cause for believing that there was too great a disposition to avoid hasty removals, to make it necessary for me to speak of it, if at all, in the hurry of earlier days of the administration, I was acting upon that assumption, and with no thought or desire to embarrass anybody, and not supposins that I was doing so. Very respectfully.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—Martin Van Buren Washington, March 18.—Martin Van Buren Montgomery, who was nominated to-day to be commissioner of patents, is a lawyer of good standing and large practice in the city of Lansing, Mich., and has had some little experience in practice before the United States patent office in this city. He is said to be a man of integrity and worth, and is about 45 years of age. The only public office he had held was that of member of the legislature of his state, although he declined a nomination for the supreme court judge when it was equiva-state, although he declined a nomination for the supreme court judge when it was equivalent to an election. The president knew of his qualifications, and this morning requested a friend to telegraph him and ask if he would not serve the administration as patent commissioner. This was the first suggestion he had heard of the matter. His answer was: "I sm a candidate for no office, but my services are at the command of President Clevelland." His name was immediately transmitted to the senate. MALCOLM HAY.

Malcolm Hay, nominated to be first assistant postmaster general, is a prominent lawyer of Pittsburg, Pa., and is 41 years of age. He was born in Philadelphia, studied law with Chief Justice Beasley of New Lersey and was desirted to the committee of the property of the ley, of New Jersey, and was admitted to the bar in Pittsburg in 1864. He has now a large and lucrative practice in the city, and is described as a man of the very highest standing in the community. Hay was a member of the last constitutional convention of Pennsylvania, and for a number of veers has been prominent. and for a number of years has been prominently identified with the democratic party in his state, having been a delegate to the last three democratic national conventions, and chairman of the committee on resolutions in the convention of last year. He supported Tilden in 1876, favored Tilden or Randall in 1880, and Randall or Cleveland in 1884. He is a prominent member of the Episcopal church, and has taken part as delegate in several recent general conventions of that church. He was not a candidate for the position to which he has been nominated, and was indorsed for it by no one. The president knew his reputation, and telegraphed him to come here, and on his arrival this morning requested him to take the place of first assistant postmaster general. He acceded to this request, and within an hour his name was sent quest, and within an hour his name was sent to the senate by the president.

How the Republicans Think the Democrats Will Carry the Senatorship.

Then the roll call for senator will proceed. The republicans in attendance will refrain from voting, believing their failure to vote will make them, under parliamentary rules, absentees. Haines, however, will direct the count to be made and verified of those actually present in the flesh verified of those actually present in the flesh at the joint session. He will then order the roll called again. Perhaps ninety-edd demroll called again. Perhaps ninety-odd democrats will vote for Morrison, and eighty or less republicans actually present will not vote. Haines will then say: "The count of the legislature in joint session shows there are present, say, 160 members, or 104, being more than the quorum required by the United States statute, and of that number a majority having voted for William R. Morrison, I declare him duly elected "etc. The Tribune asserts that the elected," etc. The Tribune asserts that the republicans, being forewarned, will refrain from entering the legislative chamber. ABOUT VARIOUS MATTERS OF PUBLIC INTEREST.

The Anxiety as to the President's Action in the New York Postoffice Vacancy—Colonel Harris Looking out for his Constituents—How Senator Lamar Fits his New Office.

WASHINGTON, March 18 .- [Special.] -As a national interest attache, to the impending contest over the New York post office there is of course a great deal of talk about it in Washington. Everybody looks to the president's action in this case as indicative of his policy so far as the reappointment of exceptionably efficient republicans now in office is concerned. Popular report in New York and outside of it is that Mr. Pearson has made an excellent postmaster. The statement that Attorney General Brewster advised Pearson's dismissal because of the maladministration of the office being positively but vaguely made out. No specifications are furnished. Pearson presents about as strangea case as any republican could offer to a democratic president. He has a ponderous petition, on which appear the names of thousands of democrats. Some of the most influential democrats in New York are making appeals to the president to reappoint him. Mayor Grace is especially active in his behalf. It is hinted that Grace secured the republican support for mayor through the influence of Pearson and his father-in-law, Tom James. Pearson's term has about expired. Will Cleveland reappoint him? Hardly. The active democratic leads ers in New York are opposed to his reappointement. The county democracy wants this prize and the enormous patronage of which no civil s-rvice construction can rob it. Necessarily the county democracy must son's dismissal because of the maladministraof which no civil s-rvice construction can rob it. Necessarily the county democracy must have a great power with the present administration. But for the firm and enthusiastic support of that organization Roswell P.Flower would have captured the New York convention which put Cleveland in the boat that pulled him into the presidency. It is of great importance to the administration that New York shall go democratic next fall. To continue the postoffice in republican keeping would rob the democrats of a machinery which they regard as fairly theirs and would disgruntle thousands of the men who must be depended upon in any calculation for success. The most esthetic any calculation for success. The most esthetic mugwump could not object to the appointment of a democrat when Pearson's time is out, but a host of democrats will raise a howl against the administration if it commits an act that will directly contribute to republican success in New York act that will directly contribute to republican success in New York next November. Some of the New York democrats now in Washington say that the reappointment of Pearson would chill the democratic ardor in their state and bring about, in all probability a reversion of the republican cratic ardor in their state and bring about, in all probability, a reversion of the republican action of 1882, so that the democrats would find their candidate for governor buried as deep as poor Judge Folger was then.

Dan Manning is nearer to the president than any other member of the cabinet, and his views on matters affecting New York patronage will have great weight. Manning is said to be opposed to the reappointment of Pearson. He knows New York politics better prebably than any of the democratic leaders, and will doubtless be able to carry the president and the postmaster general with him in this case.

dent and the postmaster general with him in this case.

COLONEL HENEY R. HARRIS, the new congressmen from the fourth Georgia. district, has spent the past week here A number of his constituents had made applications for appointment and he thought best to bring their papers on in person. Secretaries Bayard, Lamar and Garland were well known to Colonel Harris during his previous service in congress. He has met the president and the other four members of the cabinet and filed all the applibers of the cabinet and filed all the appli cations which were placed in his care. He had not been in Washington since he left congress, six years ago, but he was well remembered here by a large number of friends, members of congres and residents of the city. Colonel Harri does not come n as a new member but as one who has already established himself by faithful and efficient service. THE HAZEN COURT MARTIAL has developed a large dislit cof ex-Secretary has developed a large dishift of ex-secretary Robert Lincoln among army officers and others. Lincoln conducted the affairs of the department smoothly and with the appearance of business vim and accuracy. I have no doubt he made an excellent secretary of war. But he is personally very unpopular in Washington. Toward his inferiors, he was severe; toward his countries and toward his superiors. quals, patronizing; and toward his superiors dogmatic, stubborn, jealous and quarrelsome. One thing is certain, Bob Linceln has none of the qualities of his father even in a minor dethe qualities of his father even in a minor degree. He took his name from Lincoln and all the rest from the Todds. The workingmen are especially bitter against him. I remember standing near a crowd of navy yard employes when the bulletins from the republican convention were being posted. Blaine had been nominated and it was doubtful whether Logan or Lincoln would be placed second on the ticket. A suggestion from a bystander that Lincoln would be the best man for the place brought forth a series of bitter exclamations from those workmen. A few moments later news of Logan's nomination came, and they threw

Logan's nomination came, and they threw their hats in the air and yelled themselves hosrse. It is charged that Lincoln was unfriendly to the eight hours law.

As Hazen is also unpopular in the army, the clash between him and Lincoln is regarded by most army officers, and by the general public, too, perhaps, as a polite illustration of the "dog eat dog" theory. SECRETARY LAMAR.

Everybody is talking of how quickly Sena or Lamer settled down into the secretary of tor lamer settled down into the secretary of the interior's office and how contented he seems to be in his new sphere of duty. Like all the members of the cabinet he has a host of callers every day. He sees them all, talks pleasantly and without any evidence that he is worried in the least degree. It some one of his visitors apologetically suggests that they may be trespassing upon his patience Mr. Lamar instantly and emphatically denies that he is disturbed. He took hold of the reins firmly at the start and quickly acquired a remarkable grasp of the multitudinous details of the department. I have never seen him look heartier or more cheerful. When his office hours are over he has a keen zest for the society of his special friends and to them devotes as many of the evening hours as he can save many of the evening hours as he can save from the constant demands of the office-seek rs. No man in the cabinet is more compose ers. No man in the cabinet is more composed in his manner or more direct in his talk about business. No one is readier to meet the petty but unavoidable annoyance of his station or to grapple with the knotty problems that lie before the administration. They say Lamar made a few remarks at the first cabinet meeting which captivated those of his associates who had not known much of him before. It was on the Oklahoma question. He said few words, but they conveyed his well digested reflections on the questions with that digested reflections on the questions with that facility, grace and vigor of expression in which few, even of our best talkers, equal this gifted man. It is hard to set limits to the capacity of such a man. They call him dreamy and theoretical because, like most men of hig brains who have mercurial natures, he loves solitude and is often wrapped in reverie. I would not be surprised to see him turn out to be the most vigilant, the most active, and the most successful administrator in the entire cabinet.

A Woman Bises From a Supposed Deathbed to Prosecute a Fraud.

Chicago, March 18.—A most wonderful recovery from what appeared to be immediate dissolution is reported from No. 273 West Twelfth street, a saloon and grocery owned and occupied by a Mrs. Lydia A. Sherwood. For some time past this lady has been bedridden with what she supposed to be "gallupin" consumption, and a few days ago, thinking her end near at hand, she called to her clerk and bookkeeper, James Milligan, saying she wanted him to draw up her will. To all appearances Milligan faithfully complied with the request, and the old lady turned over with a sigh of relief, feeling that now she was prepared to make her exit from the midst of tallow candles, codfish and standard "A" sugar. The end did not come, however. On the contrary, the patient seemed to feel much better. Yesterday she called for her will, wishing to examine it personally, not knowing but that she might wish to make a change. Imagine her surprise when informed by Clerk Milligan that the paper he had drawn up was not a will, but on the contrary, was a bill of sale in which she had conveyed all her property, real and personal, to him (Milligan), and he could show her signature to it, which she dare not deny. Further than that, continued the clerk, Mrs. Sherwood was not even lying on her bed, but his, and it was only through sufferance that he silowed her to remain; if she said much he'd throw her out anyhow. This daring plot to rob her, so brazenly confessed by the man whom she implicitly trusted, so worked upon her feelings that she arose from her bed, dressed herself and hastily repaired to the residence of a young niece, Miss Rose Hamilton, to whom she imparted the trick which had been played upon her. Miss Bose became equally indignant and wrathy, and soon after swore out a warrant for Milligan's arrest, which occurred later in the evening. When brought before Justice Russell the prisoner could offer no excuse for his criminal conduct, and was therefore held to A Woman Rises From a Supposed Deathbed

The Indian Budget. The Indian Budget.

London, March 18.—The Indian budget has been submitted. It shows that for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1884, there was a surplus of over five million dollars; for the year ending March 31, 1885, there will be a deficit of $2,500, and that the estimated surplus for the year ending March 31, 1886, will be $250,000. The budget dwells upon the depreciation of silver, the lowness of exchange and the sloony prespects which at present threaten the gloomy prospects which at present threaten India's future.

Madison, the young white woman found drowned in one of the city reservers last Sunday, have resulted in a warrant being issued for the arrest of Thos. J. Clewarius, a young man living in King and Queen county, which adjoins King William county, to which the dead woman belonged. The father of the deceased arrived here to-day and gave testimony at the coroner's inquest, which, combined with other evidence, led to the issuance of the warrant. Madison said that young Clewrius is a cousin of his daughter, and that the two were raised togother. He believed that before his daughter lefthome for Bath county she had been criminally intimate with Clewrius. Other evidence given before the coroner shows that the young man was in the company of the deceased on the day and evening before her death. Officers left here to-day for King and Queen counties in search of Clewrius.

Meeting up with Lieutenant Arnold of the lice force, we inquired if he had ever been sent to Arkansas to arrest a member of the legislature of the state for burning a house in Monroe, Walton county.

"Yes, I can give you a full history of it. In 1866 or 1867, Joe G. Hudgins and a man named Addington came into Monroe and set fire to a store that stood where the store of C. G. Nowell now occupies. The proof against these two men was positive, and the next morning I got up a posse and followed in pursuit. I caught Addington in Jefferson, but Hudgins made his escape and went to Arkansas. Addington was brought back to Monroe, convicted and sentenced to the penitentiary, but Bullock gave him a pardon without his ever serving a day. I learn-after, and immediately got a requisition from Governor James M. Smith and started for Lit-tle Rock. 'A. H. Garland, at present a mem-ber of President 'Cleveland's cabinent, was then governor of Arkansas, and to him I went with the requisition. Governor Garland express-ed great surprise at the requisition, and said that there must be some mistake, as Hudgins was a very prominent man in Arkansas, and was a wern personal friend of his. I in-formed Governor Garland that I knew my

I had a perilous and risky trip over the mountains of Arkansas. While traveling along I saw an old bear with two cubs lying in the sun on the side of the mountain. ## SAVANNAH INCIDENTS.

A SINGULAR ACCIDENT WHICH HAPPENED ON SHIPBOARD.

reterious Disappearances—Mail Facilities—Chil-dren Burned to Dasth—Fire in Athens—Mur-derers Awaiting Their Doom—Other News—Throughout the State.

BAVANNAH; Ga., March 18-[Special.]-Your telegrams have given information of the serious accident to Mrs. Miller, wife of Dr. H. B. Miller, of Skancatles, N. Y., just as the steamship upon which she was a passenger was being moored to the wharf. She is now at the hospital and is being well cared for. The accident was a singular one, With the curiosity natural to people entering a first time, others gathered on the upper deck, Suddenly the pulley of the hawser, which was under a severe strain broke, and the recoil of the rope struck her on the left leg, causing a compound fracture and knocking her prostrate to the deck. Mrs. Miller was en route to Bridgewood, Putnam county, Fin., where she has an invalid sou residing, and o whose bedside she had been summoned from her northern home. She is a sister of Judge Lucien Birdseye, of the legal firm of Birdseye, Clayd & Baylors, New York, and of J. C. Birdseye, per of the Frement & Suffolk Mills, of New York. She has been prominent in the temp cause, been ex-president and vice president of the Onandega Christian Temperance union, of which the is now secretary. A number of our well known temperance people have called on her, and every attention is given them.

A MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE. Mysterious disappearances in New York are becoming more and more frequent, and occasionally we of the south get an inkling as to the distress and troubles of those who are suddenly and mys-teriously bereaved of their loved ones. A very and case has just come under my personal notice, mention of which, however, has been briefly made in the local papers. A lady apparently between 40 and 45, plainly but between 40 and 45, plainly but neatly dressed, and having the appearance of a person of refinement, culture and wealth, arriv-ed here last Friday from New York on the steamship City of Savannah. A long talk with her aroused much sympathy in the cause which had brought her south and alone. The lady was a Mrs. D. A. Bower, wife of a ent citizen of Brooklyn, N. Y. On the 24th of February ber only son, William A. Bower, a promising young man of 18, left his home after hunch to return to his employment as salesman in a large publishing house in the city. Since then he had not been seen by his family. He had been suffering for some time from malaria, and had large quantities of quinine, his mother is under the impression that his mind was slightly affected by the drug and he wandered off. Diligent search was made for him in New York and adjacent towns without success. When a clue was apparently obtained that a party answering the descrip tion of young Bower as given in the New York papers was seen on the steamship City of Savan nah on the 14th of February, among the steerage passengers. Though thinking it strange that her son, raised in wealth, and of a refined and cultivated nature should without cause leave his home as a steerage passenger, yet remembering that possibly his aind was affected by the malaria, she grasped this Tue and drowning person clings to a straw, and ediately followed to Savannah on the steamer. Arrived here, the services of the chief of police were invoked, and after considerable search it was ascertained that a young man answering somewhat to the description had lodged for one night in a cheap boarding house in the western part of the city. No further clue could be obtained and Mrs. Bower left yesterday morning for Jacksonville, where she has hope of finding her lost boy. Her distress is sad to contemplate-the doubt and uncertainty as to the fate of her only boy she says is almost more than she can bear VIS. TUE RESPERATE YOUNG GERMAN.

THE STATE OF BUSINESS. Business is dull at present, though Savannah has fared remarkably well and has experienced failures this season than any city of her size in the south. Her business men are conservative, and trade is conducted on a legitimate basis. The prospects for a good spring trade, as I learn from the majority of the wholesale merchants, are remarkably encouraging.

THE CHEAP PRICES. The cheap prices for amusements which have just been inaugurated in this city meet with general favor. Ford's Opera house, at which Paul's People's Theatrical company are playing, the price of admission is ten cents, and the house is crowded nightly. To-night Manager Johnson inaugurates the season at the theater with the Huntley dramatic company, and has placed admission at 25 cents with 10 cents extra for reserved seats. The diagram indicates a big house. Evidently the day for high prices in the amusement line is drawing to a close. There is no doubt that in the end, the theatres will do a better business, and the system may result in the total abolition of "star" engagements and two dollars admission. A Horrible Death. SENOIA, Ga., March 18 .- [Special.]-This morn ing James Adams, who lives one mile north of als place, came to town to get a load of guano, and left his daughter, fifteen years old at home He was absent about one hour, and when he returned he found that in some way his daughter's clothing caught fire and his building also on fire. It seems when she saw she was on fire she ran out of the house into a pine thicket near the house, and there her body burned into a crisp. It is supposed to have been accidental. Mr. Adams succeeded in extinguish

LOUISVILLE BEATS COLUMBUS.

The Stars Fall a Long Way Behind in the

COLUMBUS, Ga., March 18.—[Special.]—Columbus is disappointed, if not mad, to-night because she couldn't beat the great Louisvilles the best two in three. If the Louisvilles had beat the first game Columbus would have expected nothing more than three successive defeats, but in winning the first, Columbus had her expectation exalted, and is now very much crestfallen because she did not cover the Louisvilles with the dust of defeat.

THE GAME TO DAY. The game this afternoon after the first two inings was better played than the one of yesterday, though the result is about the same. Dooly, the new pitcher for Columbus, did not feel well enough to work in the box and was put in center field: O'Neil, his catcher, undertook to pitch, and while he defivers a swift and sometimes puzzling ball, his delivery is by no means certain. Kappel who caught him, was hard worked, as the never played together Receius and Crotty were the battery for the Louisvilles, and Receius seems to be quite as good as Hecker. The Louisvilles went to the bat first and succeeded in scoring three runs, which were al mostly due to wild pitching and a passed ball. Columbus was goose egged in the first, which was by no means encouraging. In the second Louisville scored another, and Columbus worked in two. Louisville gained two more in the third, and Columbus was goose egged. This gave Louisville such a start that neither the Columbus players or spectators seemed to have any hope of final success, and the game was evidently gone to the western chanpions. O'Neill pitched better toward th last, and struck out Browning, the great batter, but the Louisvilles worked together like so much machinery, and easily won the came by a score of 14 to 5. Columbus was in no trim for the game, and will show up much stronger in the future. Both of her brag pitchers are temporarily disabled. THE SUMMARY OF THE GAME.

The following is a summary of the score by nnings:

Wild pitches-O'Neil,

Receips 1. Errors-Louisvilles, 7: Columbus. The Louisville will go from here to Atlanta. Atlanta and Columbus, In replying to the recent remarks of THE CON ritution, the Enquirer-Sun says: While Columbus is ready, willing and waiting to meet any team in the Southern league at the time, selected by the committee on arranging the games, it is highly probable that the team will not cross bats with any team in the Southern league prior to that time. This suggests itself as a highly proper course for them to pursue, and they will no doubt adhere to it.

In explaining the defeat of the Stars in the secand game, the Engirer Sun says: Louisville had their strongest battery and Co-lumbus their weakest. The team was so changed about that they felt a satisfaction in not being shut out. O'Neill and Dooly, the new battery, ar-rived last night, and will go in the box to day.

The Louisville Club.

The Kansas City club having given up its southern trip, thus leaving Atlanta without any games this week, it has been determined to bring games this week, it has been determined to bring the Louisville club back for two more games— Friday and Saturday. Goldsby, Atlanta's left fielder, arrived yesterday, and will materially strengthen the team. The games Friday and Saturday ought to be interesting exhibitions of Mail Improvements to be Made.

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 18 .- [Special.] - Joe Frank hief clerk of the railway mail service, arrived in the city this morning. Mr. Frank says from to-day five express pouches will be placed on the Savan nah, Florida and Western railroad for the transportation of all mail matter which may ac umulate between 6 a m. and 6:30 p.m. They will eave Waycross at one o'clock in the morning, thus livering the mail to all points on the line from six to nine hours sooner than it was heretofore These pouches will do service between Dupont and Gainesville, Albany and Thomasville, Valdosta and Quitman, and one direct to Thomasville. This is a great improvement and is fully appreciated. Captain B. H. Hudson has declined the position of manager of the Columbus baseball team, to accept a more lucrative one. The association has

A Union County Man Kills a Large Grey Eagle-Colonel Carey W. Styles Heard From Again— Covington to Have a Building Boom— A Milton County Boy's Escape.

Morgan county will soon witness the hanging of Green Jackson, a colored man, for a marder of singular atrocity. Jackson and a companion named Clement Martin had long been close friends, which made them, as usual in such cases, the most implacable of enemies when their friendship ceased. Martin expressed a willingness to make up, but curses were the only replies he received to his overiures. "When I kill Martin," Jackson would say, "there will be peace in this neighbor-hood." One Sunday Martin, accompanied by his wife, were on their way to church. They took a path which led by a friend's house, intending to make a call. Jackson happened to be in, and spying his enemy coming, snatched up his revolver and ran out to meet him. Martin met him with a pleasant salutation, but Jackson's reply

"You hit me the other day. If you do so again I'll kill you."

This repeated three times, Martin making no reply, Jackson fired at him once, he followed it up with a second and third discharge at the mortally wounded man, who fell dead at his wife's feet. "You better take him home with you now," said Jackson to the cerrified woman, as he returned into the house and began smoking his

The matter has just been reviewed on appeal, and Jackson will be sentenced to hang in the latter part of May.

Another victim for whom the gallows is now yawning is Henry Allen, of Jones county. Henry was employed upon the plantation of R. J. Smith. On the morning of March 30, one year ago, Mr. Smith was awakened to find his house in flames. One of the first to appear on the ground was Henry Allen, who, however, refused to lend a helping It was subsequently developed that Allen was the incendiary and applied the torch because Mrs. Smith had refused to let his wife cook on her stove. On the night of the fire Henry went to church with a companion named Glawson. After distinguishing themselves in prayer, they adourned to a dance, where Alien picked the banjo for the dancers. When twelve o'clock came Allen and Glawson started off. Allen requested Glawson to stand still and see how he got even with olks. Returning in a few minutes he remarked: "They'll not cook with that stove any more. Then the flames began to shoot up from the building and Glawson saw that he was in a trap. After holding his peace for several days he reyealed the whole story, which resulted in the arrest and conviction of Allen for arson. Some months ago I became afflicted with a severe attack of Rheumatism, and I desire to state how I was cured. It increased in violence until I could no longer get in and out of the cars without assistance. While thus suffering all the agonies of this dread disease and ready to abandon my position thro disease and ready to abandon my position through sheer necessity, I was inducted to try B. B. B. THE EFFECT-WAS TRULY MAGICAL. I had no idea that a medicine could produce such an effect in so short a time. I experienced a wonderful change before using half a bottle. After taking only four bottles, I find myself to day a well man. This splendid medicine effected a cure no less wonderful in the case of my wife, who was also terribly afflicted with Rheumatism. the account is not mutual.

3. It matters not whether each party the account in his own favor, or one keeps the account on both sides; since it is not the form of the entries, but the fact of the mutual crediting, which is to be considered.

4. Whether or not, an account is a mutual one, is a question of fact.

5. In cases of such mutual accounts, the statute of limitation does not begin to run against either party, until the last just item

sion by him of indebtness to the other, or new promise to pay; but upon a mutual un-derstanding, either express, or implied from the conduct of both parties, that they will continue to credit each other until at least one desires to terminate the course of confi-dential dealing; and that the balance will count for that purpose; or by stating the ac-count for that purpose; or by demanding a settlement privately; or by suit; or by any act which plainly shows to the other party his determination to deal no longer that way. S. Without proof of its termination the law presumes that such a mutual understanding, once proved or admitted, runs through all the dealings of the parties, until the complete bar of the statute has attached.

ATLANTA, MARCH 19, 1885.

INDICATIONS of the South Atlantic states taken at 1 a. m.: Generally fair warmer weather, westerly winds.

THE good old days have gone indeed, when the rejuvanated Tallapoosa is to be put on active naval service, instead of junketing trips. The odor of Chandler will soon pass away from the land.

THE three leading appointments made by the president yesterday were of men who have been noted as strong supporters of Mr. Randall. They are all men of character, and do not belong to the class of professional office-seekers.

THE last check which it is hoped will ever be issued for dirty work was drawn by the secretary of the treasury yesterday. It was for the sum of $3,950.73, in favor of one R. B. Hayes, and is intended to cover the expenses of the commission which went to Louisiana Pwork up the fraud of 1876.

Our dispatches show that Mr. B. H. Hill has received the appointment of district attorney for the northern district of Georgia. President Cleveland could hardly have made a mistake in choosing any one of the dozen able lawyers whose names were presented to him, and his selection of Mr. Hill is a good one. As solicitor general for the capital circuit for eight years, Mr. Hill has familiarized himself with the criminal practice, and his ability and success in that office gives full guarantee that he will ably and honorably discharge his new and higher responsibilities. His indersement from all parts of the district was of the most flattering character. There will not be-and there should not be-the lightest doubt at to his confirmation, and he probably enter on the discharge of his

THE COMMERCIAL CONVENTION As will be seen from our report of the committee's proceedings on yesterday, it has been determined to hold the proposed commercial convention in Atlanta. The amount of money actually needed has been guaranteed, some of the committees holding their lists open to fill them to-day and to-morrow.

We congratulate Atlanta and her people on this result. The proposed convention will benefit Atlanta and the south very greatly. The excellent committees into whose hands its management and finances are confided assure all concerned that the convention will be unprecedented in many respects. The committee of thirty determined at yesterday' meeting to add a special feature of hospitality which shall include the merchants in the section more or less tributary to Atlanta. A day will be set apart and a special reception and entertainment provided for merchants who trade with our jobbing houses, so that we will have in Atlanta at one time the pedple from whom we buy, the people to whom we sell, capitalists looking for investments and people looking for homes. Already the committee is assured of an attendance and an interest far in excess of what was at first expected, and they will make their programme keep pace with the enlargement of the general outlook. We predict that the convention to be held in Atlanta in next May will be the feature of the year, and as far as Atlanta is concerned, an event in her history that will rank second only to the exposition. The committees who have not yet filled up their lists, and who bave given their personal guarantee to the treasurer, will have no difficulty in getting all the subscriptions they need. The executive committee and committee on finances will meet at once and outline the actual work of the convention, and THE CONSTITUTION will keep the public advised of their action.

HEADING OFF THE WHISKY RING There is not an honest democrat in the land but will be glad that the whisky ring has compelled President Cleveland to show his hand this early in his administration. It is a hand he is not afraid to show-a firm coursgeous hand, prompt to take an abuse by the throat. The whisky ring was first in the field, and it used all its powerful influence in the lobby and out of it to secure the indorsement of ex-Representative Phil Thompson, of Kentucky, who was a candidate for com missioner of internal revenue. Just why the ring was so tremendously in favor of Thompson, nobody seems to know, but its eagerness in his behalf was not at all concealed. It staked itself on his appointment, and went to work to secure it with ferocious energy. A majority of the members of the senate was roped into the scheme, and beween sixty and seventy members of the house of representatives assured the president that they would feel highly flattered, personally and professionally, so to speak, if he would be so kind and so generous as to appoint the whisky ring's candidate. In fact, the pressure brought to bear on the president was systematically organized, and was led by men who ought to have a higher regard for their good name and more respect for the good opinion of the public than to make their appearance as the tools and agents of the whisky ring. Nobody knows whether they were paving old debts or contracting new obligations; but this much may be said, there is not a democrat in the country today who has paraded himself as the agent of this disreputable ring but will keenly regret it when he finds out the temper of the American people. Fortunately for the country and for the democratic party, President Cleveland had the courage to resist the tremendous ressure brought to bear upon him. By his used to appoint its candidate, the ring has given to understand that it need expect

The eagerness of the ring to secure the appointment of one of its chosen ones was perfectly natural. It had been badly defeated in the house of representatives when it attempted to compel the representatives of the people to loan to it a vast sum of money without interest for an indefinite period; but it did not cease its efforts. On the death of Judge Folger, Mr. McCullough was made secretary of the treasury, and we have no doubt that the appointment was made at the instance of the whisky ring; for McCullough had been in office but a short time before he deliberately did what congress had refused to do; he suspended the collection of the whisky tax for a period of seven months. This was an arbitrary assumption of power for which McCullough should have been impeached, and this would undoubtedly have been his fate if democratic patriotism in the house had been as active as it ought to have This arbitrary and illegal ruling made by

McCullough in behalf of the whisky ring Secretary Manning is expected promptly to rescind. Even the whisky ring expects this but it decided to make the attempt to secure control of the commissionership. The arbitrary and unlawful ruling of McCullough gave the ring the use of thirteen million of dollars of the people's money for eleven months. This was the first step in a scheme involving millions and millions of the people's money, but if Secretary Manning does his duty and promptly rescinds the McCullough regulation, the ring will have a good, deal of its old ground to go over again. But it will not give up the fight. There is too much plunder involved; the lobby employed by the ring has been too successful in the past; it has found public men too approachable: it has found congressmen too affable; in short, it has too much at stake. It will make its customary appearance before congress at the next session, and there will be quite a number of influential men ready to argue with you by the hour in order to convince you that the whisky-makers are a special class which has special rights, and ought to be allowed to withhold the money due the government as long as it may choose to do so.

But President Cleveland, by refusing to appoint Thompson, has shown what he thinks of the whisky ring and its objects. Now let Secretary Manning rescind the unlawful ruling of McCullough.

OKLAHOMA. The proclamation of the president ordering the boomers to disperse, has practically ended the bit of civil war. Most of the colonists have returned to their homes, and the remainder will probably follow them. At the worst not over five hundred boomers will attempt to cross the line, and General Hatch's cavalry can easily drive that number off.

But the duty of the government is not ended when the boomers are disposed of. The president's proclamation orders all occupants of the coveted territory to leave, and it now becomes the plain duty of the administration to see that this portion of the proclamation is also obeyed. General Hatch says there are no cattlemen on the Cherokee strip, but the weight of the evidence in against his statements. It is really well known throughout Kansas and the Indian territory that there are several rich cattle syndicates on the disputed lands. These cattle grabbers should be dispersed as summarily as the settlers who are looking for new homes have been. Let the cavalry turn their attention to the big land thieves, now that the colonists have returned to their homes in obedience to the proclamation of the president.

The trouble arose from the fact that the late administration, and particularly Secretary Teller, took no steps to wholly divest the Indians of all claims upon the Cherokee strip. The strip was ceded back to the government by the Cherokees and Creeks for the purpose of enabling the government to provide reservations for other Indian tribes. This condition could easily have been put out of the way at any time during the past four years, if the government had been disposed to enter into negotiations with the grantors. Secretary Teller preferred, however, to keep the matter open, thereby enabling him to wink at the work of the cattle grabbers, while he kept colonists out of the territory altogether. Let us hope Secretary Lamar will be able. first, to drive out the cattle syndicates: secondly, to perfect the title of the government to the lands in the territory outside of the Indian reservations, and lastly, to formally open such lands to settlement, giving all settlers a fair chance. The proclamation is beyond criticism, and if the administration carries it out faithfully, the entire trouble will be honorably and satisfactorily settled. There is a chance in this matter to win the good will of the great west, and we hope the #### president and his advisers will regard it. THE WHEAT SITUATION.

The growing wheat begins to appear ever as far north as winter wheat is raised. There are seventeen states in the winter wheat beit, and official reports have been received from all of them relative to acreage and condition of the crop. These states raised last year 340,000,000 of the 380,000,000 bushels pro duced in the country, and these states show this year a decrease in acreage of 3,900,000 acres, which is equivalent to a decrease of 50,000,000 bushels of wheat as compared with last year's crop. There is an average damage of 15 per cent, which will cause a further reduction of 51,000,000 bushels, the decreased acreage and the damage reducing this year's crop 101,000,000 bushels as compared with last year's crop, unless the condition of the crop is materially changed by favorable weather. The agricultural commissioner of Dakots states, under date of March 13, that there will not be any increase in acreage in that territory, although the weather is very fovorable for sowing. Dakota raises only spring wheat. It is thought the California and Oregon crop will be fully an average one. But nothing short of an increased acreage in spring wheat and good luck generally will bring the new crop up to the magnificent crop of last year. There is no tendency anywhere to increase the acreage on account of the present low price of wheat, and unless war is proclaimed very soon between Russia and England, no increase in acreage in spring wheat states can safely be anticipated.

As things stand, therefore, the new crop will be considerably less than last year's crop.

very well, so far as to sympathy from the democratic adminis- | home consumption is concerned, because we will carry over from last year's crop, it no great foreign war takes place, a very large mount-perhaps nearly as much as the shortage in the new crop will aggregate. Thus far there are no indications that a large amount will be needed for export. Up to February 26, the crop outlook in England ves excellent. The reports from France and Germany are mainly favorable. The Australian crop is reported as "abundantly good," and so is the crop of New Zealand. india can always be relied on to turn in an mmense quantity.

All in all, the prospect is in favor of an abundance of wheat, even if the present outook in the northwest does not improve. There will probably be a lessened demand or export, and this will operate to keep the rice of wheat down. We see no reason to ook forward to dear bread, unless the damage to the winter wheat crop proves to be much more serious than it now appears to be. The chances of course are that the worst is seen at present, and that the plant will improve as the weather becomes more favorable to growth and development.

THERE is no reason why the stingless honey-bee ould not be domesticated in the south. In 1835 . Henry Perrine obtained some hives of stingles ney-bees in Yucatan, and carried them to Florida. They soon scattered into the forests. Occasion lly their hives are found, hollow logs, filled with oney. Their cells are unlike those of the comes, being an octagon about half as large as an ordinary marble, and holding a teaspoonful of ure, clear honey. These bees will produce as arge an amount of honey as any other kind, and the fact that they cannot sting is a strong point in their favor.

The Great Millionaire.

from the Brooklyn Eagle.

There are to be no more Vanderbilts, Goulds of Astors, and those whom we have already are to be gradually obliterated. That is the theory of an old financier with whom I have been talking, and his arguments are curiously reasonable. There always will be millionaires, but there will be no more $100,000,000 men. Gould's money will go to his children, of which he has six. He is making every effort to make a business man of his son George. The other Gould boys are not old enough to quit school, but they will doubties find their way into Wall street, and they will come in for their share of the fortune when it is distributed. The one thing that their way into Well street, and they will come in for their share of the fortune when it is distributed. The one thing that Gould loves above money is his family, and he shows no favor to one child over another. If those who know him best can can judge, his money will be divided equally between his wife and his cuildren in the event of his death. The Vanderbilt fortune will, it is understood, be scattered more widely. There are brothers and sisters, sons and daughters, grandsons and granddaughters, and of the grandchildren a promise of many more as the years speed on, for the Vanderbilts are given to having large families.

Vanderbilt seems to have no desire to perpetuate the family fortune in bulk. He has withdrawn from active business as much as it is possible for a man who has as much money as he has can withdraw, and his only present ambition seems to be to enjoy his declining years and make it cheerful for the others of his family. An even distribution of his one hundred and fitty millions among the twelve to twenty members of his family must render each enormously rich; but it would bring them down to a level with a score or more of other persons in point of wealth. The Astor estate is already divided in two portions. It is plain, therefore, that twenty-five or thirty years hence the three greatest fortunes in New York city at the present day will be scattered. We are living in the time of the greatest development of private fortunes. The condition of the country will not admit of such chances for money making hereafter as have prevailed in years just gone by. The country has become developed and settled and prospected over too much to admit of new and large fortunes in railroading, mining, in cattle raising or in land speculating. The American who now makes a fortune approaching that of Gould or Vanderbilt must turn his attention to South hamerica or some other country in which the field has not been worked. America or some other country in which the field has not been worked.

Lytle, the guther of the poem, 'The Death of Antony,' that begins, 'I am dying Egypt, dying,' was the man for mutineers. At one time during the war I was sent under his command with pieces of light artillery, among them two or three powitzers, in a brigade that went out on a raid some place near Shelbyville, in Tennessee. When we started out the wagons were used to carry the oldier's knapsacks, etc., and when we had gathered together what forage we wanted the wagon hed to be used to carry it. Of course the sol-biers then had to carry their baggaze, and when the order was given to do this, one regiment refused to obey, and said they would not touch their knapsacks. Colonel Lyte marched the touch their suspaces. Colonel Lytle marched the men over to where the knapsacks were and again ordered the men to take them up. Again they refused. I was stationed on a little eminence a short distance away, and presently here came colonel Lytle galloping over to me with his sabre out and his eyes flashing.

"Captain Edgarton," said he, 'will you let me have those howitzers?"

When he learned how many of his men had been killed he cried like a child and bewailed the fate that he had not been among the killed. That same day he was exchanged and went to fighting again. His ill luck followed him and he was killed at Chickamauga."

Mr. Endicott's Vigorous Health.

The idea that Secretary of War Endicott is a seeble man is wholly mistaken. His health became impaired by long service in the Massachuetts supreme court-an overworked body-and he went abroad on six months' leave of absence about three years ago. While in Europe he chafed under the feeling of limitation in his vacation, and also under his delicate sense of obligation towards his associates on the bench, who were in the meantime doing his work. Consequently he early made up his mind to cut loose from all public duty as a prerequisite to complete rest, and forwarded his resignation from across the water. He thereupon began to recuperate rapidly, and in the course of a year or two returned wholly restored in health, and with a disposition to resume an active career, not in general practice, but as counsel to large interests, which sought to employ him. It was as referee in anch a matter that he visited Washington early this winter to have a case argued before him by Senator Dawes. He will be a working member of the cabinet and a very judicious general adviser to the president. the feeling of limitation in his vacation, and also

A Pleasant Supper Party. MACON, Ga., March 18 .- [Special.]-Last night, while the ball of the Irish-American union was in progress at the Volunteers' armory, a pleasant complimentary supper was given at He European house, by Messrs. T. T. Tully, P.J. Tully, D. C. Tully, Corbett, Donahue, Hart, Brantley and Gelseiger, to Misses Noonan, Lizzle Stephan, Mary Stephan, Dempsey, Kitty O'Connor, Maggie O'Con-nor, Harvey and Lidy Harvey. The occasion was much enjoyed by the participants. Mr. Gelseinger was master of ceremonies.

A Bad Son MACON, Ga., March 18 .- [Special.]-Pleas Wilson is a driver employed by the Southern Express company. Yesterday he gave his son five dollars with which to pay rent. The son, Will Wilson, stole the money, and to day was arrested by officer Murphy and locked up.

An Atlanta Man.

MR JOHN W. HINMAN, OF ATLANTA, AND J. W. FORD, THE PEDESTRIAN, HAVE EACH OTHER ARRESTED. MACON, Ga., March 18 .- [Special.]-J. W. Ford, the noted pedestrian, was arrested this morning by Police Officer Brown. The facts in the case are there: Ford formerly worked for Hinman & Bro., of Atlanta. The firm say that he would accept old furniture for new, sell the old, and fail to pay them the money. When accused, Ford admitted the tuth of the charge, and agreed to make a sat-isfactory settlement. This he failed to do, and warrant was sworn out by Hinman & brother in November, 1883, for his arrest. Upon repeated promises of Ford to settle, they did not have the warrant executed. To-day, Mr. John W. Hinman came to Macon, and had Ford arrested. Ford settled the matter by giving a mortgage note, but aid that he was sure that he had a receipt for the amount, $75, Hinman & Brother claimed. This afternoon Ford found the receipt and requested Hinman to destroy the mortgage note. Hinman refused to do so, and, upon the advice of Mr. A. Proudfit, Ford's lawyer, a warrant was sworn out before Justice M. R. Freeman for Hin man's arrest for false imprisonment. He was arested ond gave a bond of fifty dollars to appear at Justice Grannis's court to-morrow morning at 9

Lumber Mill Burned.

MACON, Ga., March 18 .- [Special.]-A telegram to THE CONSTITUTION'S Macon department, re-ceived at noon, contained the intelligence of the burning of the drying house of the Armstrong lumber company, one mile below Eastman. It was thought that the planing mill would also be destroyed.

BATTERED, BROKEN AND BRUISED was discovered a few feet away. As soon as the dy was brought to light the intelligence began spread. Hundreds of people flocked about the ngs to obtain a view of it. Captain Crim ent one of the, men out for a box in which to place the remains. Heinze & Berkele, the gun men, supplied an old gun box. It was full of straw. The lid was taken off. The remains were

PICKED UP ON SHOVELS and laid in the box. The lid was then nailed down. Negro men picked up the box and carried it to police headquarters where the body now is. No one knows how or what stage of the fire the old man died. No one knows whether his death was a lingering, torturing one, or whether death came so suddenly that it was not realized. The old man's room was an insice one. There were no

Old man Canfield has a history. He has been ving in Atlanta for years. No one knows from thence he came. He had a patent process for making cider and his production was popular. le was once a match manufacturer, and is said

THE PIONBER OF THAT INDUSTRY a Atlanta. About three years ago he married a oman who came from Cartersville and who was ber working in his match factory. She proved to be a buiden to him and is now leading a dis eputable life. Canfield is said to be a brother to be wealthy jeweler of that name iu Baltimore. Croner Haynes will hold an inquest to-day.

MR. ED MERCER'S CONDITION Mr. Mercer rested easily during the day yesterday and last night. He was, however, under the laftuence of opiates. Dr. Pinckney, his attending physician, had a consultation with Drs. Westtoreland & Howell yesterday evening. So far they are unable to give anything like a definite haver to the oft repeated question:

"Row is Ed Mercer?" Dr. Pinckney hopes for the best, but cannot tell bewit will terminate. For some time past Mr.

HAS BEEN FAILING IN HEALTH. To-day his constitution is shattered and he is in the condition to stand the injuries. Had his health ken good as it usually has been there would be question as to the result. The wounds on the ead are not dangerous. The burns, though seere, are not serious, His broken ankle will give erable pain. The most serious injury probably a broken rib. It is not positively own as yet, whether or not the rib is broken r. Mercer's condition will not PERMIT THE EXAMINATION ry to ascertain whether the rib is broken, br. Pinckney says Mr. Mercer is greatly in need of at, and as soon as he can obtain enough rest to wive him he will make the examination er's breathing is hard and labored. This Dr. ckney does not like. He fears that it means an ed lung, and an injured lung will greatly dease Mr. Mercer's chances for a recovery. Yeserday the greatest interest was manifested oughout the city in Mr. Mercer's condition. On every hand this question was heard:

No one could answer it. Late yesterday afternoon it was currently reported that he was dead. The rumor traveled fast and created a general exession of sympathy.

At 2 o'clock this morning Dr. Pinckney said: "Mr. Mercer has been resting quietly under the u ence of an anodyne up to this hour. In fact he has been comparatively comfortable since 9 a.m. yesterday. He rouses up every hour or two and takes a little stimulant with ice-water. His pulse is fair, at 108; respiration, 27. He complains of pain under the right shoulder blade, extending along middle lobe of right lung. The respiratory murmus is normal auteriorly, but as he lies upon the back continuously, ausculation and percussion over this region are impracticable. The fractured ankle causes no disquietude, and the burnt face and hands are doing well. He is perfectly The fractured rational, and talks little, in which he betrays his usual good common sense. You will excuse me for declining to express a positive opinion as to the prognosis at this time.

OTHERS WHO WERE INJURED.
Several additional accidents were discovered yesterday, and in one case it is highly probable that death will ensue. W. R. Henderson and B E. Henderson, two brothers who work for Wilson, the baker, occupied a room on the fourth floor. When they awoke the hallways were thick with smoke and the flames were consuming the building rapidly. Hand in hand they made a successful attempt to reach the stairway. They knew that to separate in the dense smoke would be to lose one another. They preferred to

MEET DEATH TOGETHER than for one to escape and leave the other to perish. In their descent they encountered a burning stairway. To turn back was certain death. There was but one way to save themselves and hat was to make a run. This they did. With a single bound they went through the bright blaze landing safely on the stairway below. When they made the leap they did not know whether they would land on a stairway or in the BOTTOM OF THE BURNING BUILDING. The chance was a desperate one. They took it and came out alive but like singed rats. B. E. Henderson was terribly burned about the hands and face and was more seriously injured even than Mr. Mercer. He was taken to No. 38 Ivy street, where Dr. Pinckney visited him. Last night Dr. Pinckney said: "Mr. Henderson is more seriously burned than Mr. Mercer. His face and hands are in a very serious condition. He may recover but it is doubtful."

IN A CRITICAL CONDITION.

His brother was scorched, but not hurt. Mr. Henderson's condition at a late hour last night was critical. Mr. and Mrs. Sims and their child are at the National hotel yet, receiving every attention from the open hearted proprietors. Dr. Roach was called in to see Mrs Sims as was also Dr Howell. She did not rest well at all during the day. She had a high fever during the day. Her fractured arm was attended. Her husband is badly INJURED IN THE BACK while the son is by no means out of danger. Mr. Sims was a poor, hard working man. He lost all he had in the fire, and escaped without any wearing apparel. His condition is quite pitiable. Yesterday afternoon Chief Connolly did what he could for them. They are worthy objects of charity, and an appeal in their behalf is made to the blic. They must have clothing and attention.

They are UNABLE TO EARN EITHER, and the good people of Atlanta will not see them suffer. Last night Mr. Ollie Fuller telephoned THE CONSTITUTION that he would head a list for their relief with five dollars. Any one feeling disposed to help them can leave the money at THE CONSTITUTION counting room or the National hotel. Late last night Dr. Dan Howell stated that Mrs. Sims's condition was not tavorable for an early recovery.

When the fire was at its height everybody except Chief Ryan said the entire block would be consumed. Had any one denied it he would have been laughed at. The building extends from Alabama street to the railroad. A narrow alley divides it from Governor Brown's building. This aiiding was considered in danger. flames spread te it the eutire street to Pryor would probably have gone. Buildings on the other side of Alabama street and Whitehall street were thought to be in danger, but so faithfully did the firemen work that they succeeded in confining the fire to the two buildings. THE ACTUAL DAMAGE.

The five story building was entirely destroyed The walls, however, are yet standing and are supposed to be good. The first floor is not hurt but the others are all gone, except a portion of the second floor. The building was insured for $32,000. Pattillo's agency carried risks in four companies unting to $8,000, $2,000 in each company. Per due & Egleston carried one risk of $1,500, one of $2,500, one of $3,500, one of $2,500 and two of $2,000 each, making a total of $14,000. Angier & Waldo had one risk of $2,500. Mr. Putnam one of $5,000 and J. N. Moody one of $2,500. It is believed that $80,000 will cover the loss sustained. The other buildings Nes. 2 to 14 on Whitehall street was insured for about $40,000. W. T. Crenshaw's agency had two risks for $5,000. H.Castlemau one, $2,500, Perdue & Egleston four, $5,000, $3,500, $3,500, $3,500. Pattillo Bros. two, $10,500 and $5,000. Thompson Bros. one, $3,500, making an insurance of nearly $40,000. The Alabama street buildings, No. 8 and 10, were insured for $2,000 and $2 500. The lower building on Whitehall was not greatly damaged. A few thousand will put it in good repair, and Mr. James has already put Longly & Niles to work repairing, the insurance companies having consented. The Alabama street buildings are also being re psired, and will be ready for occupancy in a week r ten days. Mr. James' loss, all told, will not exceed $40,000. OTHERS WHO ARE HURT. Next to Mr. James A. B. Andrews, the clothier, is heaviest loser. Mr. Andrews had a stock of about $15,000. His goods were just arriving. They were ruined by the water. He has policies for $11,500, which will cover his loss. He has $3,500 in the Crescent of New Orleans, $3,000 in the Phoenix of Brooklyn, $2,500 in the Germania, $1,500 in the Philadelphia Fire association, $1,000 in Lion. His goods, damaged and ruined, were moved across the street,

Mr. Scott giving Mr. Andrews his upper floor. Next comes Thornton, the book man. Hisstore was a pool of water. He has policies with Putnam's agency for $1,500, with Angier & Waldo for $1,500, with Thompson Bros. $1,000, with Haskell $1,500, and with Crenshaw $500—amounting in all 6,000. His stock was valued at $10,000, and if Mr. Thornton comes out without a loss the margin

Mr. Mercer is a heavy loser, but as he cannot talk about business no idea can be formed as to his loss. Hutchison Blos., the druggists, were flooded out. They were insured. They decline, however, to give the value of stock, or the amount of insur ance. They are now repairing the store and will go along with business. May Bros., clothiers, had a $12,000 stock, with $7,500 insurance. Their loss is ess than $500. Bellman, the jeweler lost probably $300, covered by insurance. Lynch, the tailor, lost $300 by moving. He is fully insured. Delbridge, the shoemaker, lost about $400, with $600 insurance. Haas & Knapp on Alabama, lost $200, with $600 insurance. Fain, the tailor, on Alabama, lost $600, with no insurance. The secand third floor losses aggregate $1,500.

THE ORIGIN OF THE FIRE. The origin of the fire is still unknown. Neither has the explosion been explained. Everybody has his story to tell about the two and columns could be written of it. It is evident that the explosion came after the fire. Mr. Mercer, while sitting in his room, smelt the smoke, and going out began hunting it. He traced it to the elevator and finding that the smoke was coming up the shaft went down stairs to find it. He reached the elevator opening on the floor below just as the explosion occurred. The force OF THE EXPLOSION KNOCKED Mr. Mercer down the shaft. Mr. Hanvey, too, whe was aroused by the explosion, found the building full of smoke when he opened the door. Then Mr. Dave Meyer, who rooms the Brown building across the narrow alley, was awakened by the explosion. He jumped up, looked out his window and saw that the bank block was one sheet of fire. No one seems to know what caused the explosion. Some say that it was gas, others that it was foul air. A large tin can in which oil was kept, was found in the debris near the elevator shaft. Some say that this caught fire and exploded.

DYNAMITE AND INCENDIARIES There is no possible clue to the origin of the fire. Captain Couch says that it was dynamite. Another policeman says it was an incendiary, but neither can give any cause for either and it is probable that the cause will never be known.

AN OPEN LETTER. The following letter speaks for itself:

The following letter speaks for itself:

MAYOR'S OFFICE, ATLANTA, Ga., March 18, 1885—
Capterin Mat. Ryan, Chief of Fire Department:
Sir—I cannot delay a moment in returning thanks to you and the noble corps of men under you, for rescue of the immetes, and for the splendid and successful work of arresting the fire this morning in James's bank building.

The danger was imminent and the threatened destruction very great.

You and your department are entitled to the thanks of the whole city for duty so well and nobly done. I am, respectfully,

MR, JAMES TALKS.

"Yes, I am glad it is no worse," said Mr. James

"I am now repairing the lower building sud the Alabama street buildings. I can't say about the bank. I guess, though, that the company will rebuild it."

Notes About the Fire. Mr. W. O. Jones is always on hand when needed and always does as much work as anybody. He went on the roof and helped to take Mr. and Mrs.

Sims down. He was everywhere.

Horace Leber made fame and friends. When he heard of the fire and saw it was in the bank block he went to Mr. Jones' livery stable, got a horse and wokea half dozen merchants. Last he went for Mr. Thornton and gave Mr. Thornton his horse to ride in while he walked. Mr. Leber worked everywhere.

Scott, the clothier, proved a hard worker and a friend in need to all in the block. Mr. Knapp came in, but Mr. Haas stayed at George Banczoft, the veteran mail carrier, lost all he had. He lost two gold watches, two dia mond pins, $400, all his wearing apparel. He came out with an overcoat and a odd shoe. George worked hard for his money, but takes his loss like a philoso-

Judge Rodgers lost his library. Judge Anderson lost part of his library.

Rosser and Nelson sustained losses, The occupants of the building were Mrs. Hansford, tailoress, G. C. Bancroft, Mrs. W. Daniel, J. H. Canfield, W. H. Walker, Mrs. Sharp, D. A. Thornton, F. S. Wayne, M. Abrams and wife, Mrs. Flake, T. J. Jones, W. R. Henderson and B. E. Henderson.

Judge Rodgers had a pair of ear rings and a breast pin given him by his dead wife on her death bed. They were in his safe. The judge came near losing his life in rescuing them. No saies have been damaged as far as heard

When Mr. Sims frantically snatched a wire with which to let his wife down from the top of the burning building and tore it from its fastenings, it chanced that he grabbed the electric clock wire. instantly all the electric clocks stood still. The circuit was cut and they were dead. The hands rested at 2:12, the moment at which death stared the trio in the face, and when the desperate husband was ready to catch at anything that prom ised even the slightest chauce of succor for his wife and boy. Most of the Alabama street merchants were tel phoned, as that street was expected to burn as far down as Dodd's corner. Mr. Allison Greene, Mr. Green T. Dodd, Mr. Ollie Fuller and George John son, the candy man, were among the first to respond. They were in Mr. Futler's store waiting the progress of the fire, when Mr. Rosenberry, o the Kimball, notified them that the roof of their building was on fire. They immediately went to Chief Ryan for a ladder and he refused to furnish it. They took a ladder fro trucks and went back into the store and tried to get on the roof, but could not. Mr. Johnson and Mr. Greene went down to Johnson's factory and succeeded in getting on the roof. They found the fire and were rushing toward it, when Mr. Greene tripped on a telephone wire and fell. The fall probably saved his life as he fell just on the edge of a light shaft which he would have crashed igh had he gone a few feet further. They put the fire out with little trouble. It was Mr. Fillmore Goodwin, the night clerk at the hotel, who first reached Mr. Mercer, and not two negroes, as at first stated.

MURDERED BY HIS MATE. One Lunatic Brains Another with a Spit-toon ... A Horrible Sight. NEWARK, N.J., March 18.—William Mulca-hey, a patient in Essex county lunatic asylum, was murdered last night by Herman Fuchs, a fellow patient, who beat his brains out with a heavy spitteon. Mulcahey was a criminal patient, having been arrested in January last for larceny, and was sentenced to six months in the penitentiary, where he became insane and refused to eat food. On the 27th of January he was admitted to the asylum, ever since has refused h had to be admir which administered which had to be administered by artificial means. At 9 o'clock last night Mulcahey was lying on his bed, while the keeper was on duty in another part of the ward, when Fuchs entered his room, and picking up a spittoen, dealt him two heavy blows on the forehead, crushing his skull, in blows on the forehead, crushing his skull, injuring him so that he died in a few minutes. Fuchs was bound, but he became very violent. He said he had done it because he wanted Mulcahey to go to Heaven. He also said that he knew he would be punished for what he had done. Coroner Woodruff will hold an inquest. Fuchs had never been regarded as violent or dangerous. He was a religious maniac.

An Old Criminal Heard From. SPRINGER, N. M., March 18.-A detachment of the tenth infantry, ordered by President Cleveand, arrived this afternnoon and escorted to Las Vegas, for safe keeping, the besieged officers; Lee, Kemberly and Hixenbaugh, slayers of the three desperadoes, Rogers, Currie and Red River Tom, during the attack on the officers in jail Monday last. The desperado, Currie, was the same who shot and killed the actor, Forter, some years ago at Marshall, Texas, while the latter was trying to save some ladies from insult.

Female Assailants Arrested.

PITTSEURG, March 18 .- Forty arrests, including ifteen women, wives of the strikers, were made at West Newton this afternoon, for complicity in at West Newton this atternoon, for completely in the attack upon Superintendent Larimer, of the Yough Slope mines last night, and warrants are out for upwards of sixty more. The prisoners were held in $1,000 bail each, and in default were sent to Greensburg iall. The assault was entirely unprovoked, and has created great indignation. Larimer's condition is very serious occupied a cell in the city prison last night. Towns is well known in Atlanta, and his ac maintances have always considered him an quaintances have always considered him an honest, deserving man. Yesterday, however, the law had the "call" on Towns, and when he showed his hand he found that he had lost. Towns is charged with forgery. For some time past, Towns has been carrying notes to Council nan May, representing that they were from sick poor, who were in distress, thereby procuring aid which he usedhimself. Yesterday councilman May dropped on Town's game and requested his arrest. Mounted Officer Joyner found no trouble in arresting Towns.

A Painter Puts His Education to Bad Uses and Gets In Trouble. George Towns, the painter with a paralyzed arm

NEW YORK STOCKS. Stocks as Reported in the New York Stock Exchange.

NEW YORK, March 18.—The stock market to day was irregular and at times quiet and feverish, and decidedly more active than for several days past. The weakest spots were Pacific Mail and Union Pacific which declined heavily on reports of threatened trouble between the two companies Proific Mail was the highest at the opening when it soid at 60%, and closed at 2% per cent lower Union Pacific was feverish all day and closed with a net decline of 134 per cent. There is no doubt that the short interests in these two stocks has been largely increased to-day. But there was also considerable realizing by old bulls in Pacific Mail. Central Pacific was weak closing 11/4 per cent lower. The other weak stocks were Canada thern and New Jersey Central. At a meeting of the stockholders of New Jersey Central to-day Reading's proposed modification of the lease wa rejected and it is believed that the lease between the two companies will be broken shor ly. The strong stocks were Grangers and Venderbilts. St. Paul closed % per cent higher on a report of intreased earnings. Northwestern was up 34 per cent; New York Central % per cent; Lake Sh per cent. The break in the market brought in fresh buyers and both bulls and bears rejoicing

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Features of the Speculative Movemen & in Grain and Produce,

By telegraph to The Constitution. CHICAGO, March 18-There was little of an active nature in to-day's leading markets, everything being dull and heavy and averaging a little lower, though not closing materially different from the prices current 24 hours ago. The affecting causes to-day were consols and crop talk, Trading was light all over the floor. Wheat was again a little unsettled, fluctuating ic in the leading future. The opening was steady for April and May, but a shade lower for June delivery The early strength and bulge of 1/2c were attributed to a reported decline in consols, but the support was on withdrawn and the market sagged &c below the opening point under a spurt of liberal selling, shorts having previous filled themselves. From the lowest point there was a recovery of 1/4c to ward noon, but the close at 1 p. m. was easy and pelined to heaviness. No. 2 spring sold from 1750 61/2c cash. The market closed a shade stronger or he afternoon board.

Corn was generally steadier than wheat, partly because traded in to a much less extent. Except in seller May there was no decline below opening quotations, and on the month named the drop was very slight. The upward range of %c, however, was not sustained, owing to free selling and from sympathy with the heavy tone of the other markets. The close of the morning session was quiet and about steady. No. 2 cash so'd from 39/40

Oats were again very dull with fluctuations of %c in seller May, the only future traded in. There was little stuff offered and few bids in the market Provisions were fairly firm early in the session opening at an advance of 5c in pork and 21/2c in lard, and for a short time holding quite stiffly up to opening figures, but as the session advanced sellers became free, and at the close of the morning session the market had sagged off to about its was entirely of a local character.

RELIEF

AT LAST!

VERNON, Ga., February 17th, 1885.

DR J. BRADFEILD, Dear Sir: I was informed by a friend of some of the miraculous cures that your Bradfield's Female Regulator had performed and persuaded to buy a bottle and it has helped me so much, and I feel so greatly improved everyway that I shall keep up its use until fully restored, which I am sure will not be long off. I have been an invalid for the past four months and during the time have been treated by three physicians, and I can truthfully say your Regulator has done melmore good, than ALL THE MEDICINE I HAVE EVER TAKEN COMBINED ! Monly write this to let you know how much good your great Female Remedy has done me, and I expect to tell all other suffering women to use it for it is "OUR BEST FRIEND," and does all you claim for it. Respectfully yours,

Still Another!

SPRING GROVE, Fla., January 18, 1885.

BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO. Gentlemen: Your medicine has worked like a charm. I think my improvement is wonderful, and words fail to express my gratitude to your company, for the great benefit I have derived from the use of your "Bradfield's Female Regulator." I shall do all in my ower to introduce your medicine to every afflicted lady who is suffering from any womb trouble. I wish every one so troubled would try it, for l ENOW IT WILL CURE THEM. Gratefully yours,

Arrangements for the Trip to New Orleans -An Interesting Programme.

The train carrying the governor's party and the Atlanta delegation to New Orleans in the Atlanta delegation to New Orleans in home of Georgia's day at the exposition will leave the carshed at 1:27 p.m. Saturday next via the Georgia Pacific railway. It will consist of one Mann boudoir car for Governor McDariel and staff, four more with the Governor McDariel and Staff founds and Grands on with the Governor McDariel and Staff founds on the McDariel and McDariel a ernor's Herse Guard and friends, one with the Chatham Artillery, of Savannah, one with Putnam Rifles, of Eatonton, one with the Baldwin Blues, of Milledgeville, and four additional cars for the public, with necessary begging cars and two engines, making up two of the prettiest trains ever sent out of Atlanta. There are berths yet left, and, if necessary, more cars will be provided.

The party will arrive in New Orleans premptly at 6:45 a. m. Sunday. All arrangeent should be made at once, so as to avoi rowding at the last moment.

The guns of the Chatham Artillery passed brough Atlanta this morning via the Georgia

Pacific fast freight line.
On consultation with Commissioner Bacon, Acting Commissioner Pratt has arranged the following programme: The governor and party will be escorted from their hotel to the foot of Canal street by the military companies, where a steamer will be taken up the river to the exposition levee. They will proceed thence to the music hall in the main building, where, after a number of selections from the band, an address will be delivered by Senator John T. Davidson, of Augusta. They will then repair to the Georgia exhibit, where the governor will see his friends. In the evening the United States commissioners, board of management, foreign Pacific fast freight line.

commissioners, board of management, foreign commissioners and other distinguished guests will be invited to meet him at his hotel. An effort will be made to secure the services of the grand Mexican Cavalry band to accom-pany the escort from the hotel and to enter-tain the visitors at the music hall. TWO VERMOMT PROHIBITIONISTS.

They Report Their State All Right-The Southern Outlook. Southern Outlook.

Meeting ex-Governor Procter and General Ripley, of Vermont, as they passed through Atlanta on their way to the exposition, a Construction man casually asked how prohibition worked in their state.

"We are satisfied with it," said Governor Proctor. "We have tried it thirty-one years under a state law and it has worked admirably. It has reduced the volume of crime at least one-half."

"Is the law violated to any extent?"

"Is the law violated to any extent?"

"It is a rare thing to see a drunken man in any city or town in the state. The sentiment of the people is in favor of making the law still more stringent. This is shown by the fact that every measure introduced in the legislature looking to this end, if practicable, is always adopted with very little opposition."

"Are not the officers in some communities slack in enforcing the law?"

"That difficulty has been overcome," replied the governer, "by the passage of an act which anthorizes the governor of the state to appoint to or more specials, upon the application of as twenty citizens of any community whose duty it shall be, to see that the law is enforced in that locality."

Governor Proctor and General Ripley said that they were surprised and pleased to find such a strong temperance sentiment in the south. Before their visit they were under the impression that intemperance prevailed very generally in this section, but they were now convinced that such was not the case. They commended the Georgia local dpuon law in high terms, but gave the preference to the Vermont law.

Called Back.

This great drams was booked in Atlanta for the 18th, but its success in New Orleans was so remarkable that Mr. Bridwell would not let it go and obtained a new date, postponing to Tuesday, March 24. At that time the piece will be created by secured in our city with the elegance and refine ment which characterizes all the performances of the Madison equare theater. Both scenically and tramatically the production in Atlanta will equal the production in New York city. The original cast will appear on the stage, and our theater-going appear on the stage and our theater-going appear on the stage and was considered by many as good as this lady, is the leading man of the troupe, and Miss Millward, one of the brilliant force of Irving's company, is the leading lady.

A few days ago his pecketbook began to look extremely thin and with a view to fattening it up, Mayer decided to leave town. Having made up his mind to go, the next thing Mayer did was to select a place. In looking over the Georgia map his eye fell upon Augusta as a city offering inducements to emigrants. Mayer then arranged for his departure, but in leaving he forgot to settle his hotel bill. He left between two suns, and bade no one good-bye. Yesterday morning his hotel bill. He left between two suns, and bade no one good-bye. Yesterday morning he was missed from the Kimball house breakfast room and on inquiry as to his whereabouts revealed the fact that Mayer had skipped his bill. Mr. Scoville had been kind to Mayer and did not like the treatment received. He made a call upon Chief Connolly and requested him to run Mayer down. The chief ined him to run Mayer down. The chief instantly began telegraphing over the country, and late yesterday atternoon received a message from Augusta informing him that Mayer had been arrested. Chief Connolly at once telegraphed back to Augusta, directing the officials to hold Mayer until an officer could reach that city. To-day Chief Connolly will send for Mayer. He will be prosecuted for cheating and swindling.

THE CONVENTION.

THE NEEDED FOUR THOUSAND DOLLARS GUARANTEED.

The committee appointed to solicit funds for the proposed commercial convention met yesterday afternoon at the chamber of commerce. Mr. Sam Inman presided. There was a good attendance of the members and the reports were encouraging, so much so that the pleasant announcement can be made that the necessary money has been guaranteed.

more could be raised.

Governor Bullock made a report from his committee showing that he had raised $540, with several big institutions yet to hear from.

Mr. Kimball reported for the committee, of which Captain English had been appointed chairman, the $500 promised.

Mr. Inman reported $360 for Mr. Phelan's committee.

These various reports of the sub-committees showed the total amount subscribed to be discussed hereafter. There is no doubt, however, that the customers of Atlanta will be well taken care of. In the discussion of the matter several interesting things came out.

Mr. Hunnicutt said he had just returned from the west, and that the commercial men are coming in great numbers, Cincinnati especially is coming in force. nati especially is coming in force. Many of the merchants of that city have been contemplating a trip south, and will make it convenient to let the trip take in Atlanta, as convenient to let the trip take in Atlanta, as they say Atlanta is really what they want to see. Mr. Hunnicutt said he believed there would be two hundred delegates from Cincinnati, and a large number from Louisville. He said also that the convention is all the talk among the westerners. Other gentlemen gave enthusiastic reports of the reception the scheme has met all over the country.

Both gentlemen are strong and well muscled—Mr. Ezzell, however, being a good deal larger than Mr. Thompson. They were both determined upon a fight, and considerable difficulty was experienced in separating them. Centein City and Patralman Respect ficulty was experienced in separating them. Captain Crim and Patrolmen Reeves and Hildebrand were near by, and were, among others, who endeavored to separate the two gentlemen. The officers grabbed Mr. Ezzell and lifted him entirely off the ground in trying to part the gentlemen, but Mr. Ezzell was bent upon a fight, and while in mid air continued to strike at his adversary. Resolved further, That a finance committee, composed of Mr. Louis Gholstin, Mr. Oglesby and Msjor John A. Fitten, in connection wits Mr. R. J.Lowry as treasurer, be empowered to collect and disburse, under direction of the committee, all moneys centritude for the purpose of bringing about and carrying on the commercial convention.

The resolution was passed unanimously. Mr. Kimball arose and said that he appre-ciated the responsibility of the duties assigned him, but he was ready to undertake the work. He asked the aid of the committee of thirty in the undertaking. Mr. Inman said there was no doubt that Mr. Kimball would receive, not no doubt that Mr. Rimball would receive, not only the aid and encouragement of the committee of thirty, but that he would receive a like support from the people generally.

Arrangements Being Made for a Magnificent Charity Ball in April. The ladies of the Woman's exchange of Georgia, are arranging for the largest and most magnificent charity ball ever given in the state. The object of the ball is to raise enough money to make the exchange a permanent institution. The ball will be given about the 9th of April at DeGive's opera house. It will be managed entirely by ladies, and while under the patronage of the Atlanta ladies, those of other Georgia cities will give the affair a helping hand. Atlanta will no doubt do the handsome thing by this laudable under-taking. The object is certainly a worthy one. The following Atlanta ladies are invited to meet at the Young Men's library at three o'clock this afternoon, with any others who may feel an interest in the enterprise, to ar-

The Mexican Band.

It is now almost a settled fact that the famous Mexican orchestra that has delighted so many thousands at the exposition in New Orleans will thousands at the exposition in New Orleans will pay Atlanta a visit soon. Mr. H. J. Meyers, manager of the orchestra, called last night and stated that negotiations had been going on for some time with the local management, and had finally settled on terms; and also that the date will be settled on his return to New Orleans. As the band is due for a series of 120 concerts in New York and Roston the latter part of April, the visit here will no doubt be early that month. It will be a source of great pleasure to welcome the artists of Mexico to Atlanta, and it is hope. that their stay will not be too brief.

SUCH STATEMENTS

-AS THIS-

Mr. Bonner lives in Macon and no one is better known than he. Strangers can rely upon the statement he makes:

In August, 1881, it was discovered that my son's wife was in the last stages of consumption. She was coughing incessantly, and times would discharge quantities of pus from her lungs, could not sleep or retain anything on her stomach, and we thought it only a ques tion of time when life would be compelled to give way to the fell destroyer. After all other remedies failed, we got

Brewer's Lung Restorer

And began it in very small doses, as she was very weak. She soon began to improve; continued the remedy and was restored to life and health, and is to-day better than she has ever been before. I regard her restoration as nearly a miracle, for which she is indebted to BREWER'S LUNG RESTORER.
